80 years of comprehensive resilience and security of supply

Finland is one of the few countries in Europe to have invested in resilience in a systematic way – uninterrupted since the end of the Second World War.

- Finland is a global leader in building resilient and secure societies and economies.
- At the heart of the Finnish model is seamless partnership between the public and private sectors.

In Finland's model, companies are more than participants – they drive the development of innovative, practical solutions that are tested and proven in the world's most advanced pioneer market. In Finland, these solutions are ready for deployment:

- Material preparedness
- Protection of critical infrastructure
- Ensuring operational continuity

We are happy to share our expertise with countries and companies seeking to strengthen their crisis preparedness.

Solutions developed in Finland serve all sectors of society

From underground civil defence shelters and infrastructure, to logistics, transport equipment, cybersecurity, satellites and more.
